

Chapter 6: My Sensory Choices

Age 3-6 | Beginner | Parent/Teacher Guided

The reference emphasizes following the child's lead and adapting sensory play to individual interests and preferences. This page supports functional communication by letting the child show a preference without needing speech.

What to do

Offer one safe sensory choice. Ask, 'Do you like this?' Accept pointing, eye gaze, touching a choice, or another established communication method. Repeat a 'not like'.

1. Like

YES

Child: point to or circle the same choice.

A 'not like' response is meaningful communication. Do not force the child to continue an activity they reject. Preferences can change from day to day.
